ON THE STOEP

DNA Newsletter

Last month we said farewell to Tony and Tricia Border who served on the Dainfern Nature Committee for 20 years. Tony created "On the stoep" nature newsletter for the In Focus magazine and entertained and educated us with more than 100 newsletters. We have decided to continue with the name "On the stoep" and hope that you enjoy our newsletter this month.

Top: Maintenance along the 12th / Above: Scadoxus puniceus.

If you have something of interest that could be placed in the newsletter that coincides with Dainfern or of nature interest, please email Colleen at cobbie@global.co.za

Nature

Whilst we are waiting for summer rains, certain plants are getting ready to bloom and bring great joy to those who are observant enough to notice them. One of these plants is the Scadoxus puniceus. Almost startling in its beauty this perennial can have a great impact in its natural habitat in the grassland. It has shining undulated leaves red or maroon bracts and surrounding densely small dark orange to red flowers. Flowering takes place between October and November and the fleshy berries are a good food source for birds, which is why it's important not to pick or destroy them.

Maintenance

The Nature team are still busy with ongoing maintenance and recently revamped the beds along the 12th which are looking stunning. You will see that this style of planting is consistent and can be seen all over the estate and makes a wonderful statement.

Dams

You may see that some of the dams are not looking so good now. Once the rains come, they can be flushed out and attended too!

If you see any areas that may need some attention please email Olivia.denny@telkomsa.net

Tree of the Month

By Brands Tree Felling / www.brandstreefelling.co.za

Candelabra Tree

(Euphorbia Cooperi)

The Candelabra tree is naturally found in the northern parts of South Africa.

This tree prefers a sunny position with plenty of space around it as it can grow to approximately 7 meters tall and 3 meters wide. It will only tolerate light frosts should not be over-watered.

The tree resembles a candelabra with its thick base trunk spreading out in several winged branches.

It can be planted in a large pot provided it is placed in a sunny position. For this reason it will make an ideal and unique Christmas tree. Decorate it with Christmas lights, tinsel and various Christmas decorations. After the holidays it can be taken back to its sunny spot. Do remember not to over-water it in the pot.

— REAL ESTATE —

Helderfontein Estate Launches their next Phase

Finding the right address, where you and your family feel safe, secure and comfortable is by no means an easy feat. It is with this that Century Property Developments have launched the next phase in Helderfontein Residential Estate as a secure country lifestyle estate, right on your doorstep. Conveniently situated in the heart of Fourways the estate neighbours Dainfern, providing a perfect alternative to families looking to live closer together, but are currently unable to find undeveloped open stands to build their dream home on in the already burgeoning Fourways area.

Within the gradual slopes of the Helderfontein Estate flows the meandering Jukskei River that brings with it an entire ecosystem of indigenous fauna and flora. Our goal has been to maintain and add to the natural environment and as a result have ensured that we have kept the myriad of fishing dams, magnificent greenbelts for children's playgrounds, and more than 12km of walking trails through the indigenous parklands. The first phase of development was made up of only 163 stands ranging in size from 900m<sup>2</sup> to 1 700m<sup>2</sup>. Each stand is fully serviced providing only the best in quality infrastructure with a number of integrated elements for your living convenience.

As part of the development the main clubhouse will be built overlooking a large dam and will include a world-class gym with a considerable swimming pool, tennis courts as well as a world-class restaurant. For the more adventurous the scenic greenbelt will also include a built for purpose mountain bike track with rest areas. Because we understand that secure living is one of the highest priorities when selecting a place to call home, Helderfontein Estate is equipped with a state-of-the-art security system ensuring you and your loved ones are kept safe. Managed at the highest level and made up of the latest in technology including CCTV, thermal imaging cameras and access control systems, the entire security environment is supported by highly trained and motivated staff. Perimeters are secured by well-lit, four-meter high, reinforced concrete walls, topped with electric fencing and CCTV cameras, in addition to being frequently patrolled.

The estate will have two entrance points, including the phase one entrance on William Nicol and the phase two entrance which will open out onto Main Road providing direct access to Midrand. Providing the optimal in country living coupled with secure family living, Helderfontein Estate is conceptualised to provide a magnificent alternative to otherwise cluttered living and a clean slate for the family looking to build from scratch their dream home. Building packages are also available to assist purchasers who would prefer to buy a home off-plan

Our sales office is open 7 days a week from 09h00 to 17h00, so pop in for an overview of "country lifestyle living" at its best. Alternatively you can visit our website at www.century.co.za or contact Vee on 082 937 1680 to make an appointment.

Revival Agreement

If your sale agreement lapses, can you revive the sale agreement?

What is a revival agreement?

A revival agreement is entered into between a seller and purchaser, who despite their sale agreement having lapsed due to non-fulfilment of a suspensive condition (for example a bond), within the agreed period, have decided to revive the sale agreement and continue with the sale and purchase of the immovable property.

Section 2 (1) of the Alienation of Land Act:

"No alienation of land after the commencement of this section shall, subject to the provisions of Section 28, be of any force or effect unless it is contained in a deed of alienation signed by the parties thereto or by their agents acting on their written authority."

The most important factor when dealing with a revival agreement, is to ensure that the revival agreement complies with the statutory requirements of Section 2(1) of the Alienation of Land Act 61 of 1981 (hereinafter referred to as the Act). As was held in the case of Streicher JA in Fairoaks Investment Holdings (Pty) LTD v Oliver 2008 (4) SA 302 (SCA) paragraph 5, an agreement of sale with amendments to revive a lapsed agreement of sale of an immovable property due to non-fulfilment of a suspensive condition must comply with Section 2 (1) of the Act.

Recent Court Case:

Recently we had a case where the purchaser claimed that a written sale agreement of an immovable property concluded between the seller and purchaser, become null and void with no force and effect due to the non-fulfilment of its suspensive condition. It was also claimed that the written revival agreement did not revive the sale agreement and that there was no existing agreement between the parties.

It was held that on proper interpretation of the revival agreement's provisions, that the revival agreement constitutes a new written agreement for the sale and purchase of the property, which complies with the provisions of Section 2 (1) of the Act, and is valid and enforceable.

Conclusion:

A revival agreement reviving the transaction between the parties must contain clear and express terms, with the purpose and effect to conclude a new agreement of sale.

WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW ABOUT EXIT TAX

Planning the sale of your home prior to emigrating, there are so many factors to consider. The timing could be key for those sellers that are thinking about emigrating from South Africa on a permanent basis. A new tax law is currently under discussion that will affect you and it is proposed for March 2022. Considering the time it takes to sell a home, on average 3-6 months, it may be worth revisiting the timing thereof, when planning your house sale. Please do some research if this affects you and rather be prepared. As a seller, we also wish to remind clients to maintain their homes and gardens until the date of transfer.

The Seven Elements of Design ## and how to use them in your interiors: PART 2

The seven elements of design consider space, line, form, light, colour, texture and pattern. A balance of these elements is vital to every scheme.

The first 3 on the list were discussed in PART 1 (IF 0921).

4. Light

Most interiors make use of both natural daylight and artificial illumination. While the quantity and quality of daylight might seem fixed, it is worth remembering that it can be filtered with drapery and window coverings.

It can also be boosted where it is lacking with techniques, such as hanging mirrors, borrowing it from other rooms, and, again, with a window treatment.

Artificial light comes from the room's ambient or background lighting, the accent lighting that draws attention to objects or features, and the task lighting that makes a kitchen safe for food preparation, an office desk bright enough for working, or an area of a living space comfortable for reading.

HOMEFRONT

Dimmer switches allow changes of atmosphere to be achieved with the lighting, while the choice of the light fixtures and fittings themselves will contribute to the room's appearance.

5. Colour

Colour is important, not just because it creates a mood in a room, but because it has the power to make a room feel larger, lighter, or cosier. Of course, it is vital that the colour selected complements the room's use with more restful shades for bedrooms, for example, or energetic hues in a home office.

The hour of the day, and whether it is seen in natural light or artificial light will affect a colour's properties, so success in using it means considering this before selecting colours.

6. Texture

Texture counts because of how it feels, of course, but also because of how it looks, and every part of a room scheme from furniture and floorcoverings to fabrics and decorative accessories, contributes to the selection of textures in a room. Mixing textures and contrasting them add to the depth and interest of the room scheme.

7. Pattern

Pattern is another element that adds interest and life to a room, just like texture, and might come from an area rug, wallpaper, soft furnishings, and artwork. The style of the pattern whether that is floral, geometric, abstract or any other design should be in harmony with the overall style of the scheme.

These 7 elements are the most important elements to consider, when planning a renovation or changing your interior décor.

7 Reasons Cyprus is tops!

Your key to living in beautiful Cyprus

Owning an offshore property to realise a Plan B is a dream than many South Africans would love to achieve. Europe remains being the preferred geographic location for the majority of investors as not only it is the world's largest trading block, but the real estate opportunities are enticing.

However the choice of where to invest can be intimidating; plus the financial, legal and tax implications coupled with language & cultural difficulties sometimes makes this a barrier to entry.

Cyprus, an English-speaking, ex-British colony and full EU member, is an extremely popular destination in Europe.

With an erratic health system, huge social problems and the spiralling cost of living in South Africa, more and more families are looking for an alternative – and Cyprus has come out tops.

Here are the 7 reasons why South Africans are buying property in Cyprus:

1. Owning a property in Cyprus – the 3rd largest island in The Med - means you really are living the Mediterranean dream.

2. You can acquire permanent residency by buying property without having to live in the country.
3. Properties in Cyprus offer excellent value for money when compared to other European countries – especially homes right on or near to The Med.
4. Cyprus' positive property growth and demand for long and short-term tenants.
5. Cyprus is a very popular tourist destination so owning an investment property will reap an attractive offshore income.
6. Cyprus has been voted one of the safest countries in the world so your personal safety and property investment is assured.
7. The discovery and imminent exploration of natural gas is already having a positive impact on foreign investment and infrastructural development. Billions of Euros are already pouring into the economy.

It's easy to fall in love with Cyprus, especially with the 1st world lifestyle aspects available. But it's the excellent quality of life on offer that is driving investors in their droves to look seriously at Cyprus as their new home.

Making the investment or move across to Cyprus is simpler than you think; and Cypriot Realty has an impressive 13-year track record of assisting many South Africans in exploring what Cyprus has to offer.

Contact us for a confidential meeting to discuss how we can help you realise your and you family's Plan B in Europe.

Why do we add compost to lawns every year?

It's composting season and on a short drive through Dainfern you'll see everyone with their piles of compost on their verge, ready to spread onto their lawns. But why do we add compost to lawns every year? Remember, lawns are grasses, and grasslands evolved with specific ecosystem processes – two important ones being; fires, and large herd grazing...

Fires are important to grasses because it causes the release of nutrients back into the soil, and increases soil carbon levels at a depth below 2cm. Interestingly, and perhaps counter-intuitively, regular fire causes an increase in soil carbon storage over time, instead of reducing it. Since we have stopped fires in our built-up areas, our lawns are lacking that natural nutrient replacement mechanism which is usually responsible for kick-starting their growth after winter.

Similarly, grasslands rely on large herds of animals grazing it and dropping large quantities of dung to fertilize it. Since we have removed the possibility of large herds of wildebeest grazing on our lawn in Dainfern, we have also removed the grass's system of obtaining nutrients. (Not to mention that we also cut our grass and send away the grass clippings)

Having removed these two systems which our grass depends on, we need to supplement with something which stimulates the grass to wake up from winter. Compost is the best for this because it has the microorganisms which would have decomposed the ash or dung, which stimulate the grass's roots to grow. This is why it has a long history of being applied yearly on lawns. Compost goes beyond just waking up the grass, and has additional benefits such as improving water retention because it acts like a sponge.

The effect of compost is quick, like the effect of fire, so you should see the grass wake up within 3 days if you have added the right quality compost. Generally, you want to feed the grass compost made from that type of plant, i.e garden waste, and you should make sure your lawn compost is the 'fine' type otherwise it will just sit on your grass and look ugly and be uncomfortable to walk on.

It is just in the biology of the grass, and without compost (or fire or grazing), no matter how much you water it, it will struggle to grow into a thick, green lawn.

Kingfishers in my garden

During the last Winter this Malachite Kingfisher visited my fishpond every day. My pond is stocked with Tilapia species but unfortunately these die during Winter and only the young ones survive which soon grow up to a decent size and I was hoping that this Kingfisher would stay until these fish made their appearance. I have always wanted to film this bird diving from a suitable perch, catching a fish and coming back to its perch to eat it.

Top: The garden pond;
 Right: Malachite Kingfisher.

With this in mind and great enthusiasm I prepared the scene for Summer. I cleared the reeds and water lilies, planning camera angles and set up a perch from which it could have a good view of all the under water activity. I even planned a second phase where I could film the bird under water.

NATURE NEWS

While all this was going on I had another Kingfisher visiting my garden every day. It was not interested in my fish pond but had a great time catching and eating some of my most beautiful lizards.

Top: Brown Hooded; Above: Woodland Kingfisher

When Summer came it disappeared but in its place came another beautiful visitor.

Just like the Brown Hooded this Woodland Kingfisher was not interested in my pond and fed mainly on insects and other small creatures.

Its lower mandible is black but when it is young this is red and it is then often wrongly identified as a Mangrove Kingfisher.

My plans for filming my Malachite came to nothing. The fish arrived on time but by that time the bird had gone.

See your dreams grow!

October gardening is all about making those dreams and pictures you see in your mind come to reality, and then having the patience and energy to see them gloriously right in front of your eyes.

If you have done nothing yet, don't worry, but loosen your breaks! You are going to plant, feed, prune, pick, deadhead, water, harvest and keep an eye on pest and disease attacks.

Spring flowering plants like yesterday, today and tomorrow, crab apples, and cherries are also in full bloom; not forgetting the beautiful bearded irises, foxgloves and delphiniums. Luckily, we are all inspired to garden at this time of the year because there is no time to rest for gardeners in October.

If you really want a good return on money spent in the garden this season you need to get cracking and plant this month. This will give you the whole season to reap the reward of summer.

Picking up the lovely garden roses can be done at any time of the day, if they go straight into a bucket of cold water. Do not pick more than 50% of the long –stemmed blooms on any one plant at a time, as a big loss of leaves can cause root shock which sets back growth. Rather pick again as more flowers are produced.

Enjoy the last flowers of the Clivia's. If they need to be lifted and divided, do it after the flowering phase at the end of the month.

Buy tall annuals like aquilegia, campanula, delphinium and digitalis in colour bags to fill up bare spots in mixed beds. Border flower beds spectacularly with Carex hachijoensis 'Evergold' a clump-forming ornamental grass with narrow yellow and white, green-edged leaves.

BIRD OF THE MONTH

by André Marx

Klaas's Cuckoo

Chrysococcyx klaas

This is a small, greenish cuckoo that is occasionally observed in Dainfern. It is an inconspicuous bird that will be more often heard rather than being seen.

Like other cuckoos this species has an interesting breeding biology and is a brood parasite, meaning that it lays its eggs in other birds' nests. The host, thinking that the egg is its own, incubates the egg and cares for the chick. It lays 1 egg per nest, laying roughly 24 eggs in one breeding season, with the egg colour matching the host's eggs. The chicks usually hatch after an incubation period of about 11-12 days, remaining in the nest for about 20 days after which they remain with the hosts for another 25 days.

The host species are small warblers, sunbirds and batises. In our area the Amethyst and White-bellied are regular hosts. Breeding generally spans September-April with a peak from October to January.

The Klaas's Cuckoo is an intra-African migrant and only appears in the summer months, but a small number of birds do over-winter in our region. Its retiring nature means it is frequently overlooked, but if you memorise the call of the bird you can't miss it! With the expansion of wooded areas and gardens this bird should be secure for now and we look forward to its continued presence in our estate.

The male has plain white underparts and glossy green upperparts and shows a conspicuous white patch behind the eye. The female is quite different, with a barred greenish-bronze on the back, with a grey-brown head, and underparts that are barred brown and white. Care needs to be taken to separate this bird from the more common and similar Diederik Cuckoo, but it does not show the white wing spots and red eyes of that species. The call is a distinctive and plaintive "meeee-jtie, meeee-jtie", that instantly gives rise to this bird's presence.

The species was named by French explorer François Le Vaillant in 1806 in recognition of his Khoikhoi servant and assistant, named Klaas, who found the type specimen. The name has persisted to this day.

The Klaas's Cuckoo is mainly insectivorous, specialising in butterflies and caterpillars. It usually forages in the foliage of trees or bushes, taking insects from leaves and occasionally hawking a flying insect. This bird has a preference for forest and lush woodland habitat and its occurrence in Dainfern is due to the trees and bushes that occur in our parks and gardens and provide the cover that the bird prefers.

South African hedgehog

South African hedgehog (Atelerix frontalis) are quite common visitors to FFW.

They are found in most urban areas and because they are nocturnal are not often seen. Many are noticed when attacked by dogs, the barking attracts the owner's attention and the hedgehog is often found to have nasty bite wounds. If admitted timeously the wound can be cleaned, medicated and the animal released back into a safer environment.

The veld fires we have had recently affect our hedgehogs badly, their spines get scorched and it can take quite a few months for them to recover. They need their spines to protect themselves.

Interesting facts:

Hedgehogs are easily recognized by their spines, which are hollow hairs made stiff with keratin. Their spines are not poisonous or barbed and, unlike the quills of a porcupine, do not easily detach from their bodies. However, the immature animal's spines normally fall out as they are replaced with adult spines. This is called "quilling". Spines can also shed when the animal is diseased or under extreme stress. Hedgehogs are usually brown, with pale tips to the spines

The name hedgehog came into use around the year 1450, derived from the Middle English heyghoge, from heyg, hegge ("hedge"), because it frequents hedgerows, and hoge, hogge ("hog"), from its pig like snout.

Towards the end of August the Dainfern Masters was played. This is the first time ladies have taken part in the Masters. It was a two day event on the 28th and 29th August. There was a small ladies field of 12, playing two rounds of IPS. All who played agreed that it was a great event put on by the golf office. The winner was Gail Newland, second Heather Becker, and third Annika Furaholm. Maureen Valsecchi also celebrated a hole in one on the 6th. The event was completed on Sunday with prize giving and a luncheon.

It targets fat reduction in specific problem areas. By positioning the laser pads on the target area such as upper arms, abdomen or thighs fat can be broken down and removed specifically from that area.

Full Body Far Infrared Dome Treatment

Our Full Body Far Infrared Dome Treatment uses heat to create vigorous sweating to eliminate stored toxins in fat cells, whilst raising your metabolism, burning up an increased amount of calories and improving your skin. It heats your body directly without any adverse effects due to its long wavelength and very low frequency.

Supplementary Nutritional Support

To support your daily nutritional needs whilst you reduce body fat and enhance weight loss, we supply an instant nutrient dense, high protein Slimming-specific Shake which contains a slow releasing protein agent that will reduce hunger and cravings. It contains no aspartame (artificial sweetener) which may cause harm to your body and no fillers which could build a fat layer under your skin.

In addition, we provide different Healthy Eating Meal Plans and relevant information to help our Clients sustain and enjoy a healthy lifestyle.

The Workings of a Human Metabolic Mechanism

In order to burn any fat, your body has to be in a healthy and energetic state. Hunger, starvation, cravings and lethargy slows down your metabolic rate.

It is worth noting that exercise may help with 15% of your weight loss and the rest is determined by your diet, so it is possible to burn more calories with less exercise and without starving yourself!! If you eat in moderation, you will regulate the storage of fat and sugar (glycogen) in your system.

The body needs only one teaspoon of sugar for energy and anything extra becomes toxins. Our bodies produce the insulin hormone to help regulate sugar levels in our blood stream. This should help to convert the food we consume into fuel/glucose to be absorbed by our body cells. Excessive amounts of toxins in your body forces the pancreas to produce copious amounts of insulin so as to try and cope with the increased need to drain toxins.

The excess insulin becomes ineffective and instead converts all the excess sugar and carbohydrates into fat which forms fat deposits in strategic parts as it gets circulated throughout your body. The fat also gets dumped onto your liver and some into your belly and causes stomach bulging.

Some of the symptoms of toxins overload in your body:

- Stubborn weight loss and a sluggish lymphatic system
- Fatigue, esp. when you want to take a nap after a meal
- Cravings of sugar and carbohydrates
- Insomnia
- Excessive urination, esp. at night
- Brain fog, memory issues

Land of Oz Chartwell to provide an integrated Grade R offering

By Sharon Konstantinou, Head of Land of Oz Nursery Schools

It is so encouraging to see government implementing Grade R as a compulsory start to a child's school journey. As an Early Childhood Development (ECD) professional, I am passionate about helping learners establish a solid foundation for learning at a young age and fully understand the impact that nursery schools have when it comes to providing concrete, tactile and play-based experiences.

Children benefit intellectually, socially, and emotionally from being with their peers at preschool and having the opportunity to explore their world outside their homes.

Grade R children still need to learn through concrete experiences and the freedom of play-based discovery. I believe that metacognition, collaboration, and creativity are developed through the foundation laid in a preschool environment and that children should have the opportunity to consolidate these skills before they are sent to "big school".

According to the American Academy of Pediatrics, play is critical for learning 21st Century skills such as problem-solving, collaboration, and creativity. One of my favourite quotes is by Carl Jung, who said: "The creation of something new is not accomplished by the intellect but by the play instinct."

Emotional readiness for the demands of a primary school environment is crucial. Strong self-esteem and confidence that are developed in the secure preschool environment are fundamental requirements for school readiness.

IJKA SA Black Belt Family

On Saturday 4 September 2021 and Saturday 11 September 2021, IJKA (South Africa) had its Black Belt Pre-Grading and Grading for 1st, 2nd and 3rd Dan. So much time, dedication and effort put in by all the grading candidates. We are so incredibly proud of all of the students.

It is an honour and a privilege to introduce the following successful grading candidates as well as to welcome some new yudansha (black belts) to our organisation: Natasha McKelvin (sandan), Justin du Plessis (nidan), Darius Steinmetz (shodan), Jarryd Gartland (shodan), Kiara Rodrigues (shodan), Liam Duvenage (shodan), Max Shardelow (shodan), Nikara Soorju (shodan), Nyasha Nyagumbo (shodan) and René de Langen (shodan).

Congratulations on your fine performance at your grading and welcome to the IJKA SA black belt family. Please allow me to single out René de Langen, a 74 year old student from the Western Cape, who had a brilliant grading. A remarkable feat for someone of his age. He showed us all that age is merely a number. There is no excuse for any of us not to do something we set our minds to.

CHOOSING A HIGH SCHOOL

Choosing a high school can be a daunting task. Here is a list of points to consider when making this crucial decision for your child.

ETHOS, CULTURE AND VALUES

Ensure that the school's culture and values are aligned with those of your family. In this way, your child will feel comfortable in the new environment and will make friends with peers who respect or share the same ethos and outlook.

Established in 1997, Dainfern College is a standalone independent school that celebrates diversity and welcomes families of all faiths, nationalities and cultures. The school has a Christian ethos based on the traditional core values of Fortitude, Integrity, Self-discipline, Humanity, Accountability and Respect.

The College believes in a holistic approach to education, built on the pillars of Academics, Sport, Culture, Leadership and Service, supported by the key drivers of internationalism, innovation and transformational leadership. The school's mission is to develop the skills for life required to unlock unique personal potential and to nurture creative thinkers with the confidence to become leaders - through the provision of an innovative, relevant and quality education.

SIZE

The size of a school and of the classes should be considered. Some students cope better in a smaller, more supportive environment, while others revel in the opportunities of a bigger school.

Dainfern College offers three classes per grade with an average class size of 25 in Grades 8 and 9. Once students select their subjects for Grades 10-12, classes are often smaller, ensuring that every student is well supported throughout their educational journey.

ACADEMIC OFFER

Establish what curriculum and exit exams are in place and consider whether these will give your child access to tertiary studies both in South Africa and internationally.

Dainfern College has an outstanding 20-year record of 100% pass for Matric. The College follows the IEB Matric syllabus, which is well recognised both within South Africa as well as overseas. In addition, the College introduced the Cambridge A Level curriculum three years ago as an alternative school exit exam. Students select the curriculum of their choice from Grade 11.

TECH & RESOURCES

The COVID-19 pandemic and hard lockdown has highlighted the importance of technological resources at schools.

Dainfern College prides itself on its technological systems and expertise and is one of only two Google Reference schools in Africa. The systems already in place ensured a seamless transition to online learning during Level 5 lockdown last year to ensure the continued delivery of lessons across the College.

EXTRACURRICULAR ACTIVITIES

A holistic education includes physical and cultural activities in addition to the academic programme. Enquire about the range of activities on offer and whether these are included in the school fees or are billed separately.

Dainfern College offers a comprehensive list of extracurricular activities, all included in the fees:

Sport: Athletics, Basketball, Cricket, Cross Country, Equestrian, Golf, Hockey, Netball, Rugby, Soccer, Swimming, Tennis & Water Polo

Culture: A Cappella, Art Club, Bands, Chess, Debating, Drama, Marimbas, Music Ensembles & Public Speaking

Service: Audio-visual Services, Cheerleading, First Aid, Outreach & Photography

PASTORAL CARE

Research suggests that teens have been the most affected by the COVID-19 pandemic. Find out what systems are in place to look after your child's emotional wellbeing as well as their academic progress. Establish whether these are included in fees or are charged separately.

A comprehensive academic and student support system is in place at Dainfern College. Extra academic support lessons every afternoon are included in the fees and the school counsellor is available to students at no extra cost. In addition, an experienced team of therapists and an educational psychologist are also available at an additional cost. The College has a well-established mentor and tutor system in place to ensure that every student is supported and cared for throughout High School.

To find out more about Dainfern College, visit www.dainferncollege.co.za or contact enrol@dainferncollege.co.za to arrange a tour.

Thriving despite mental illness

As we commemorate World Mental Health Awareness Day on 10 October, may it serve as an inspiration to those living with various mental health struggles to befriend their reality, be unapologetic about their struggles and to pursue the help that is made accessible. I encourage loved ones who have become frustrated and despondent to develop more patience, compassion and empathy towards the challenges which face those who live with mental illnesses. As a community, may we realise that mental health inequality needs to be addressed with greater vigour and urgency as it is not a privilege or luxury but a right.

Dr. Samke J. Ngcobo

When I was diagnosed with a mental illness, I felt very offended by my perceived label and assumed fate and therefore rejected it. I did not understand the concept of what a mental illness was and what it meant for me—this was 20 years ago and the conversation surrounding mental health was still a taboo topic. As a result, I carried my misinformation and misunderstanding in the form of self-stigma and denial. What exacerbated this challenge was the social, cultural and religious stigma that I was subjected to. This experience flooded me with guilt and shame as if I had created the chaos that surrounded my illness. People from my church community deemed me as demon-possessed and from a cultural perspective, I was described as bewitched. The extent of judgment and rejection left me confused and frustrated. I grew up with a distorted perception relating to religion and culture.

Through the years, I have experienced several dark moments fuelled by stigma and multiple relapses. My training to become a doctor was often disrupted due to frequent hospital admissions. Due to lack of insight, I refused to accept that I had a mental illness and as a result, did not adhere and cooperate with any of the interventions which were presented to me. Seeing severely ill patients who were incapable of caring for themselves elicited a fear response within me and worsened my anxiety related to my diagnosis.

Fast forward to 20 years later, I'm a medical doctor who is accepting of their reality and passionate about mental health advocacy and activism. The evolution from denial to acceptance was by no means glamorous but required extensive psycho-education by my managing team and patience from loved ones which improved my insight regarding my condition and my response to it.

I am often asked by distressed loved ones who are related to individuals living with mental illness about how I came into my paradigm shift and my response is that patience, compassion and empathy go a very long way. The development of insight of oneself is not an immediate occurrence but is incremental and appears at a varying pace per individual.

When I eventually developed insight related to my illness, I became a student of myself and the diagnosis itself. I identified my triggers, attended to my self-awareness and self-care. I also approached my loved ones to help me identify the red flags that suggest a potential or imminent relapse; this was difficult to come to terms with. When I finally accepted the diagnosis of my mental illness, I decided to befriend it and deem it my lifelong companion. Doing this has given me much needed peace. The acceptance of my illness does not equate ownership of the identity of a mental illness— I am not Bipolar; I have Bipolar Disorder.

Not only can you live with mental illness but one can thrive despite it!

BAGS OF ♥ Community Outreach

in the Dainfern Community

Just a reminder of the upcoming Bags of ♥ Donation Days in Dainfern.

It's now the first Wednesday of each month. Further dates as follows:
03 Nov and 08 Dec.

ANIMATED GALLERY

It's been another bumper month for Bags of ♥ Happiness is.... Putting smiles on the faces of little children whose parents struggle every day to put food on their table (if they have the luxury of one) and cannot afford the pre-school fees, let alone clothing and warm bedding. Thank you to every single person who "came to the rescue" for the crèche in Msawawa, particularly at such short notice, dropping off brand new stationery, dolls, new & gently worn clothing, blankets, linen, toys, cups, bottles, doll house, books and a Wendy House!!

Also a huge high five to all those who contributed cash and products for yet another bumper "Dainfern Donation Day" - the generosity was once again overwhelming! We are still in need of a gas cooker, refrigerator, gas bottle, kitchen items (including large pots) and non-perishable (and fresh) foods for their feeding scheme

Again, we were able to provide 30 food parcels donated to two organisations who look after indigent communities and do wonderful work in our area. We were also able to provide the usual monthly groceries to a Creche in an informal settlement, as well as loads of childrens clothes (brand new and slightly worn) food, games, books and toys.

Big thanks too, to resident Aron Frankenthal who donated 50 educational counting books for children using his wildlife photography skills to produce them! These will be distributed to two pre-schools. Big thanks too to Sasha Harwood for donating a selection of brand new cycling gear and to Ali Jennings for donating two exercise machines independently to Rock Solid Gym in Diespoot which does phenomenal work in uplifting women.

Young Hero

In usual generous style, Dainfern residents came to the rescue for Dean Swanepoel, a young volunteers member of Fire Ops on our Estate who is considered one of the best-motivated fire crew members on the team.

Covid wreaked havoc with Dean's family in several ways and Dean's mother lost her job, so the new car had received for his 18 birthday had to be sold to keep food on the family table. Despite the huge disappointment, he took it gracefully and to this day, hasn't been able to replace his car. Instead, he bought a small motorcycle and rose above it all by volunteering at Fire Ops SA whilst writing his final matric exam.

The press recently spotted Dean in action, working on a huge fire in a home. He and the team saved the property, so the journalist wrote an article about him which gave Dean a lot more confidence and he passed his matric year. Fire Ops SA decided to appoint him as a full time employee to fulfil Dean's dream to become a third-generation Firefighter. In order to achieve this, Dean needs to study further so he enrolled at Pro Ethnos Fire & Rescue Training Academy to complete a six-phase course which was a costly exercise his family could not afford.

We appealed to our community (on social media) to donate enough for Dean to pay for his studies – and Peet Trollip, our head of Security and Bags of ♥ stepped in to get the ball rolling by donating R4000 between them. By the time the last donation came in, we had collected more than double the required amount! Dean's father will be administering the funds and will most likely put the surplus amount towards another vehicle for Dean. In an emotional get together, Dean, his father and Peet showed deep gratitude to me for all those who have made a huge difference to someone who's life revolves around saving lives & properties!

The MaDD ladies of Dainfern are putting on a Fair to raise funds for the Teddy Bear Foundation which does incredible work for abused children. We are also supporting local vendors, many in need of a boost. We urge our residents to attend this event which promises to be fun for the entire family – all for a good cause!

The biggest Bitcoin hack in history

By Kreaan Singh

HACK OF HACKS: MT.GOX LOSES 650,000 BITCOIN

To many people around the world, Bitcoin has become an innovation that has meaningfully impacted their day to day lives. But, as with any technology, significant hurdles first needed to be overcome before the true benefits of Bitcoin became evident.

The MtGox hack

Bitcoin's early days were marred with controversy. From being used as a tool to launder money and to purchase drugs, to regular hacks on exchanges, the industry was akin to the wild west. One of the biggest events in Bitcoin's history was the hack of MtGox.

In 2013, MtGox (pronounced Mount Gox) was the biggest Bitcoin trading exchange in the world, handling more than 70% of global trades. It was based in Japan and owned by Mark Karpeles. The history of MtGox is incredibly controversial, with endless claims of missing funds, scams, withdrawals and deposit issues. But what made MtGox infamous is the biggest hack in Bitcoin's history – 650,000 BTC stolen.

How did it happen

At the time, those 650,000 BTC were worth a massive $360 million. Today, it is worth an eye-watering $22 billion! Hackers managed to access the exchanges hot wallets – wallets that are kept online so that customers can withdraw and deposit their funds immediately. We now know that keeping most of your customers' funds on a hot wallet is incredibly irresponsible, as it becomes a honeypot for hackers. In 2013, MtGox was completely irresponsible in that it kept almost all of customers funds on their hot wallet, instead of offline in a vault. Over 2 years, hackers slowly siphoned off Bitcoin from MtGox until the exchange collapsed due to a massive amount of missing funds.

Strangely, a lot of these stolen funds have never been accessed by the hacker and are still sitting in the wallets that they were transferred to, now worth hundreds of millions of dollars each. The "1Feex" wallet, for example, still has roughly 79,000 Bitcoins since the day of the hack.

The aftermath

Karpeles, the owner, was arrested by Japanese authorities in 2015 and released on bail in 2016. He has not been allowed to leave Japan while investigations continue. Customers whose funds were stolen are slowly being paid back from Bitcoin that were recovered from MtGox's offline wallets, but, sadly, at the price of Bitcoin at the time of the hack – around $550 each. That's less than 1.5% of what one Bitcoin is worth today. The remaining funds are expected to go to Karpeles, worth over $1 billion.

The moral of the story

Many people who were not a victim of the MtGox hack look back to it as a necessary defining moment in Bitcoin's history. However, we must always sympathise with the victims whose Bitcoin investments could have made them mega-Dollar millionaires today. The lesson? Don't keep your cryptocurrency investments on an exchange. They are targets for hackers. Rather purchase a hardware wallet for increased security.

If you are interested in trading Bitcoin, Ethereum and other cryptocurrencies, why not enquire about CoinEd's online course? It is easy to follow, comprehensive, includes assessments to test your knowledge and has practical activities. We also encourage everyone to query about our arbitrage service, where you buy Bitcoin overseas at a discount and sell it in SA for an immediate profit.
