General Manager's Report

By Mr Riaan van Rooyen

Finance SGM

We were delighted with the outcome of the Finance SGM where our budget was approved. We have worked hard to give residents a clear understanding of how we work our finances, with the assistance of the Trafalgar team, and are now able to deliver on the projects presented at the meeting.

Thank you to everyone who attended and to those that were involved with all aspects of getting this budget approved – together we will move forward.

“There is no power for change greater than a community discovering what it cares about.”

Fantastic Fridaze

Fantastic Fridaze was a lot of fun on Friday 5 August with Zionruts entertaining us. Our firepits were ablaze on this cold evening and the patio area was fully booked on the night. We congratulate all our winners and thank SIX33 for their delicious food that rounded off the evening perfectly.

Women's Day

Women's Day was celebrated with a "spa" day at the Clubhouse – ladies were treated with the options of a Pop-Up IV Bar, an Oxygen Chamber, a mobile Spa Therapist, as well as Reflexology. A glass of bubbly for each lady ended off the experience.

Upcoming:

Fantastic Fridaze takes place every first Friday of the Month at the Clubhouse.

We mourned the loss...

of one of our favourite Fidelity security members - Mr Thabiso Shadrack Maduna (fondly known as "Shaddie"). We hosted a memorial service for him at the Clubhouse giving his fellow team members, friends, and family an opportunity to bid him farewell. We send our deepest condolences to his family.

Mrs Beryl Pollard sadly passed away at the incredible age of 104. Beryl used to live on the Estate with her son Russell and we had the opportunity of sharing her 100th birthday with her at the time.

Our thoughts and prayers are with her family at this very sad time.

Golf Membership

Our golf membership is growing steadily and especially our family packages have been taken up. Our ball machine on the driving range has been as successful as we envisioned and recently, we received brand new Srixon balls to add to the offer.

The Golf Committee, in conjunction with our golf team have recently acquired the "MyHomeClub" App to improve communications with members, booking of rounds and to create a better user experience for our members.

The ladies hosted a successful Mixed Open and have their Dainfern Ladies Open Spring Day planned for 13 September which we look forward to.

Thank You!

We are excited about the increased number of events that are being planned by our golf team. Our thanks go to the Golf Committee for their hands-on support, guidance, and assistance in all areas of our golf offering.

THE IDEAL TIME TO LIST YOUR PROPERTY IS NOW

Despite the increase in interest rates over the past few months, and with the likelihood of further hikes, we are still seeing a strong buyer interest. The volume of buyers has been considerable over the past 3 years and the property sales in these areas have been good. We are currently experiencing a stock shortage. Another observation is the shift to younger families entering the estates. These are families that have made a decision to live in a lifestyle estate, rather than close to their place of work. The good news is, that many of the old properties are now getting a much needed facelift, and this will uplift the areas property values. We need more homes for rent and properties for sale. Call us, we are committed to getting the job done!

Five décor ideas to
Brighten up your home with Fresh Spring Colours

By Karen Schaefer Louw • WhatsApp: 0829403571
karen@interior-decor-design.co.za • www.interior-decor-design.co.za

There is no better time to refresh your home's look than spring, with fresh blooms and bright colours sure to bring the natural beauty of the season into your home.

A colour update is a quick and effortless way to give your home a fresh, new look.

We offer the following tips to create a floral haven in your home:

1. Find your inspiration

Create a mood board to inspire you before you take on any decorating. This will help to define the style of your space and will also make your life easier when shopping for new furniture and décor. Once you have finalised your mood board, move on to your space and take stock of what you already have, what you want to keep and what you will be replacing.

2. Colour coordinate

Décor trends are leaning towards fresh pastel and blush colours, as well as rich, warm shades, paired with anthracite and charcoal. And true to the season, green is a firm favourite for décor. Pair them with lavenders and lilacs, reds, pale blues, and yellow and gold shades to create a field of florals in your own home.

Colour has the ability to add personality to any space, so choose colours that you like most and that will portray your personality in the space.

ANIMATED GALLERY

Avoid the temptation to add too many new shades: Try to use the rule of threes and stick to three main colours in your space. Additional colour pops can be incorporated through smaller décor items.

3. Time to bloom

Fresh flowers will liven up your space and add a natural source of colour and texture. Tie your décor to the colours and textures of your flowers or indoor plants. This will allow your décor and blooms to work together to create a harmonious flow throughout the space. For instance, select plants that feature on your cushions, pillows, and other décor elements.

4. It is all in the details

Colour updates work well in décor items such as cushions and rugs. If you are trying to avoid the overall look of your room becoming too feminine, use dark grey or black to offset any pastel notes. Using these darker colours as a background gives a great contrast to prints and pastel shades, keeping the room feeling balanced.

There are plenty of ways to bring pops of colour into your space in a subtle way. Try incorporating colourful décor accessories - such as rugs, vessels, or scatter cushions into your space.

5. Light it up

Lighting plays a crucial role in any space, indoors and outdoors. It affects the mood of the space as well as the level of enjoyment: Too much light and it may be too harsh on the eyes, too little light and you won't be able to see enough.

After updating your space with a fresh new look, show it off by adding accent lighting with LED lights, which will create a cheerful and inviting atmosphere.

We would love to assist you with refreshing your home for Spring/Summer!

The risks and the requirements with regards to a will

By Jozaan Digue (Attorney and Conveyancer)

The risks

If a person dies without a Will, the assets he owned at the time of death (deceased estate) will be distributed in terms of the Intestate Succession Act.

A Will can be seen as a set of rules set out by the deceased. If there is no Will, then the Intestate Succession Act will apply regarding the distribution of assets in the estate.

The Act aims to distribute the deceased estate to close relatives first. The Act will have to be read closely as there is a specific order as to how it will be distributed. A frequently asked question is also what if the deceased had no relatives. The deceased estate will then be forfeited to the State. The money will be placed in the Guardians Fund and if no heir comes forward to claim the money within 30 years, same will go to the State.

An executor will have to be appointed to carry out the administration duties and seeing that there is no Will, the intestate heirs may nominate a person to be appointed however the final decision of who will be the executor will lie with the Master of the High Court. It means that this may lead to a delay in the procedure, additional costs and frustrations for the deceased's family.

If the deceased had children and it might happen that both parents of the children are deceased, then his/her wishes will not be considered as there is no Will to nominate a guardian. The children might be placed in the care of someone they are not familiar with. It should be noted that the best interest of the children will always be taken into account.

The requirements

There are specific requirements a Will must comply with which are regulated by the Wills Act 7 of 1953.

The requirements are as follows:

- A person must be over the age of 16 (sixteen) years.
- The Will must be in writing. This means it can be typed or handwritten. If it is handwritten, the person who writes it cannot be a beneficiary in the specific Will.
- Each page of the Will, including the last page, must be signed by the testator. The Will must also be signed by two competent witnesses. The witnesses must be aged 14 years and older.

The above is merely a summary of the risks and requirements and should you need assistance with drafting of your will, kindly contact our offices herein.

DISCLAIMER: This summary is solely intended for educational and training purposes and does not purport to contain legal advice. No reliance may be placed on the information herein contained. Independent legal advice is to be obtained when confronted with any legal / Court related problem.

LIVINGSPLACE

How does design effect your everyday life in your living space.

By Igor Baleta (Architectural Designer)

Design of everything in our built and mechanized environment is fundamental to its livability, ease of use, functionality and has great impact on your overall life experience. Think of a space or a feature in your home that just does not work.....and why?

"An architect is employed by a client to create a space or spaces that are tailor made to suite the clients needs..."

Design of a habitable structure, or additions to such structure, such as a modern South African home is an extremely complex and involved procedure encompassing many different facets, from the basic design premise, design practicality relative to terrain, orientation, weather, security, and of course how this all impacts the overall budget.

The function of an Architect is to accurately interoperate a clients brief and project that vision creatively, practically and cost effectively. And to apply a design that resolves the challenges at hand, weather they be spatial, technical, aesthetic or budgetary, or a combination. All at the same time adhering to National and local bylaws and estate aesthetics requirements.

Modern design has moved into a very rectilinear era, with homes and work structures being designed on very angular facets with intersecting planes creating focal points of tension. Floor space is more open plan and free flow, particularly in the common living areas with only services being compartmentalised. Gone are the days of old where homes in particular were divided into specific use compartments. Whereas product, vehicular and consumer goods design has certainly moved to a more curvilinear trend. The advancements in technology and materials would certainly contribute towards this design and therefor lifestyle paradigm shift, for want of a better word.

An architect is employed by a client to create a space or spaces that are tailor made to suite the clients needs, and is often a very complex integration of many design and technical elements that need to mesh harmoniously and if properly executed will probably be the best investment you will ever make.

Live well, be happy

DAINFERN CONNECT started earlier this year, when a group of residents (of varying ages) and mental health experts decided to come together to address the high levels of stress being experienced by adolescents .

An extremely distraught adolescent urged his mother to "please do something about it". And so, thanks to learner Gabriel Mpire, DAINFERN CONNECT was formed to focus on the youth in the most effective way. So far this year, DAINFERN CONNECT has held four evening events as well as weekly Youth Circles.

The Team

The team comprises Susan Harwood, Ayesha Khan, Willem Lindeque, Natasha Calenborne, Trish Guilford, Liam Britz, Bongile Mkhumbeni, Dr Natalie Cordeiro, Felicia Goosen, Rosette Wamambe, Dr Sharon Boyce and Quintin Mennecke.

Love & comfort for the little ones

The past month has brought in loads of puzzles & games for children, many of which were distributed to impoverished day care centres and schools in Limpopo region and more will be delivered in October. We also received loads of soft (and other) toys which bring so much joy to children in hospitals, schools and for home.

We recently handed over a big supply of soft toys to Edna Muller in Dainfern for the WITS Anaesthetic Project Teddy to supply children with some comfort prior to receiving anaesthesia. Please continue the collection and dropping off your items at Bags of ♥ at 1361 or contacting Edna directly on dr.evdm@gmail.com

As always, sanitary pads and toiletries are in BIG demand to prevent teen learners from missing school at "that time of the month".

PLEASE DELIVER products to Bags of ♥ each Wednesday (which is Donation Day) between 08h30 – 11h30.

GOING FOR GREEN!

Bags of ♥ is proud to be a supporter of the greening of Diepsloot to enhance the education, well-being of - and job creation for - their entire community. Bags of ♥ has supplied a good amount of vegetable this month and will try to keep the supply going on a regular basis. Supporting our local community

Green Hope Foundation SA is a registered NPO, behind the establishment of the Green and Cleaning up Diepsloot Project.

The foundation was established in 2020 after realising the high level of unemployment, poverty and lack of knowledge in basic farming, environmental and GBV education.

Mr David Marokane, founder and CEO of the foundation, together with volunteers, provide community clean ups and home gardens for eligible families. They bring along, seeds, seedlings, manure and hand tools with each project.

The foundation carry out door to door campaigns, community dialogues and talks at schools and clinics to promote their program. Currently there is a team of 16 volunteers that have committed their time and efforts to run this project.

The foundation are always in need of assistance for seeds, seedlings, uniforms, lunch, tools and would love to have a stipend for their volunteers.

The Importance of Play

in Early Childhood Development

By Kid Vantage Academy

The early years from birth to age five represent the most decisive phase in the development of a child's initial capacity that will influence their further learning experiences. These years are often referred to as the "magic years".

The increase in the number of brain research during the early years of a child's life has raised awareness to the importance of providing quality care and developmentally appropriate experiences for children before formal schooling.

A child's early years are about fostering and growing their natural curiosity through a wide variety of play experiences. The benefits of play are crucial in allowing a child to develop holistically. An early childhood education setting such a playgroup, crèche or preschool, should be a place where children can discover a love for learning through play experiences.

It is through play that children begin to engage, explore and interact with the world around them. This exploration ignites creativity and confidence which helps them master and conquer their fears.

The focus should be on providing an environment for children to explore, gain a sense of self, play with peers and build self-confidence and independence. Children learn that they can accomplish tasks and make decisions independently without the help of their parent or adult in the environment.

A preschool should not only focus on academic success but more so on creating a well-balanced child who willingly wants to explore, play and question their surroundings.

So what should you look for in a preschool?

It is important that the environment is well suited and well prepared for the child. The interactions between the staff and children should be positive, stimulating and should show an understanding that each child is an individual.

At Kid Vantage Academy, our classes are small and supervised by qualified teachers who implement attentive programs that ensures balanced emotional, social, cognitive, physical and language development suited to each child.

Dainfern Masters 2022 Results

The 2022 Dainfern Masters was held this past weekend (20 & 21 August 2022), and we had over 90 members participate.

The format is individual medal with the overall individual medal and the winner was determined based on the Best Nett.

We also introduced a Senior Masters division, which allowed the members over the age of 60, to play off the Blue or Red tees, and their format was individual stableford.

We had a few sponsors on board to assist with a well-run event, and they were:

1. Universal Paints
2. Connecting Lives – Water sponsor
3. Supermarket Farms – Fruit sponsor
4. Global Golf – Prizes
5. SIX33 - Stella Artois beers and snacks for after golf

Without these sponsors, these days wouldn't happen or be as successful as they are.

The more sponsors we can get, the bigger and better our events will be.

A huge thanks to the following for a successful event:

1. Golf office team – Delia, John, Ernie, Dee, Connie, Jordan and Evidence.
2. Golf Data – Rob Sheasby and the golf course maintenance staff for the golf course being in great condition over the weekend.
3. Global Golf – Chad McCabe and the team for their assistance and contribution over the weekend.
4. SIX33 – For the food and service over the weekend.
5. Sindy Tomsett – For the décor and entertainment that was arranged on Sunday afternoon.

SA Reserve Bank encourages banks to work with Cryptocurrency Exchanges

By Kreaan Singh

This month, the SA Reserve Bank released a guidance note encouraging banks to be more lenient with crypto service providers. Given that most of the SA banks began closing the accounts of cryptocurrency-related companies in 2020, this is a very important development in South Africa.

"...From a regulatory standpoint, South Africa remains pro-crypto. The SA Reserve Bank has long shown an intent to be at the forefront of crypto-regulation in Africa and internationally, especially now by encouraging banks to reassess their decisions..."

When banks decided to deny financial services to crypto companies, many of these companies were faced with the dilemma of shutting doors or finding creative ways to process company and customer funds. While they may have still operated completely within the bounds of the law, the decision by banks meant that there was less regulatory oversight into the industry – a situation that the Reserve Bank certainly did not want.

But if this was the result, why did the banks decide on this course of action? At the time, they vaguely cited increased 'risks' to the financial system and also identified the lack of a regulatory framework. This may have been true, but did it do more harm than good? Possibly yes, as it may have driven innovation offshore. It certainly did reduce financial transparency in the country, resulting in a possible increase in money laundering. Only one of the major banks continued to provide financial services to the companies that they deemed too big to fail – primarily the largest crypto exchanges in the country – but imposed significant restrictions for continued support.

At this point, I feel it necessary to stress that the banks' decisions were not based on regulation. It was a decision made by each bank individually. From a regulatory standpoint, South Africa remains pro-crypto. The SA Reserve Bank has long shown an intent to be at the forefront of crypto-regulation in Africa and internationally, especially now by encouraging banks to reassess their decisions. Apart from improving financial oversight, there are numerous other positives to take away from this.

The crypto industry is driving innovation, financial inclusion, tax generation and job creation, as well as attracting much-needed foreign investment into the country. With encouragement from the Reserve Bank, a promising new industry with transparent regulation is being created. This is not only good for business, but also for consumers and investors who now have a certain level of surety and protection.

For us at CoinEd, it affirms our stance that the industry will only continue to grow and that our education programs at schools and for individuals will benefit generations to come.

If you'd like to introduce cryptocurrency and blockchain education at your child's school, or learn more yourself, let's get in touch! Visit www.coined.co.za for more information

DAINFERN BIRDS

White-throated Swallow

Hirundo albigularis

by André Marx

With spring upon us the migrants are arriving in full force and this is the time of year to look out for the swallows, which are traditionally the first migrants to arrive.

The White-throated Swallow is a small, elegant swallow with glossy blue-black upperparts and with the frons (front of crown) chestnut in colour. The underwing coverts are white. The feature that gives the species its name is the black breast band that frames the white throat and is the most useful feature that separates this species from other Hirundo swallow species in our region.

This cheerful bird is always associated with water and is regular along the river and in neighbouring areas dams and wetland areas in Dainfern. They usually occur in pairs when they are seen foraging over water or perched on exposed stumps or bridges. Many residents will know this as the swallow that builds a shallow cup-shaped nest on their patio, which it lines with soft grass. This nest is not to be confused with the nest of the Greater and Lesser Striped Swallow both of which make mud nests with an entrance tunnel. The nest of the White-throated Swallow may be reused in later years with the same pair known to return faithfully to their nest site year after year. They often raise 2-3 broods in a season and watching them provision their young in the open nest is a wonderful experience.

As can be expected, this species has benefited from the many nesting opportunities presented by man-made structures such as bridges and buildings. It should be welcomed if it decides to breed on your patio as the birds pose no threat or health hazard to people. They travel all the way from central Africa to breed here each summer and are very much part of the local avifauna of the estate during that time of year.

Why do we Add Compost to our Lawns every year?

By Himkaar Singh

It's composting season and on a short drive through Dainfern you'll see everyone with their piles of compost on their verge, ready to spread onto their lawns. But why do we add compost to lawns every year? Remember, lawns are grasses, and grasslands evolved with specific ecosystem processes – two important ones being; fires, and large herd grazing...

Fires are important to grasses because it causes the release of nutrients back into the soil, and increases soil carbon levels at a depth below 2cm. Interestingly, and perhaps counter-intuitively, regular fire causes an increase in soil carbon storage over time, instead of reducing it. Since we have stopped fires in our built-up areas, our lawns are lacking that natural nutrient replacement mechanism which is usually responsible for kick-starting their growth after winter.

Similarly, grasslands rely on large herds of animals grazing it and dropping large quantities of dung to fertilize it. Since we have removed the possibility of large herds of wildebeest grazing on our lawn in Dainfern, we have also removed the grass's system of obtaining nutrients. (Not to mention that we also cut our grass and send away the grass clippings)

Having removed these two systems which our grass depends on, we need to supplement with something which stimulates the grass to wake up from winter. Compost is the best for this because it has the microorganisms which would have decomposed the ash or dung, which stimulate the grass's roots to grow. This is why it has a long history of being applied yearly on lawns. Compost goes beyond just waking up the grass, and has additional benefits such as improving water retention because it acts like a sponge.

The effect of compost is quick, like the effect of fire, so you should see the grass wake up within 3 days if you have added the right quality compost. Generally, you want to feed the grass compost made from that type of plant, i.e garden waste, and you should make sure your lawn compost is the 'fine' type otherwise it will just sit on your grass and look ugly and be uncomfortable to walk on.

It is just in the biology of the grass, and without compost (or fire or grazing), no matter how much you water it, it will struggle to grow into a thick, green lawn.

To order fine lawn compost, visit <https://www.compostkitchen.com/product-page/fine-lawn-compost>
